

BRAVEHEART
MARINE BV

Braveheart Marine is a growing and dynamic company, strong in hydrographic activities. We own about 10 vessels which are equipped with hydrographic equipment, which we rent out to clients from the (inter)national dredging and offshore industry.

Survey support engineer

a job with impact

As a Survey support engineer you can really make a difference at Braveheart. We have a great and dynamic survey team, always busy, always on the road, always a new challenge. We are looking for someone who not only feels comfortable with the tasks as mentioned below, but who can also help us build a strong foundation.

With your knowledge and skills, you can be an important part in professionalizing our processes. At Braveheart we really want to stimulate your strengths and interests to contribute to the success of you and the organization.

Being a survey support Engineer you're responsible for maintaining, troubleshooting and testing the hydrographic sensors. These consist of multi-beam echosounders, ultra-short baseline systems, side scan sonar, motion reference units, GNSS receivers etc. You will Assist in the mobilisation and demobilisation of our vessels and Assist in performing calibration of survey sensors and equipment conforming to established calibration standards. And supports and encourage continuous improvement of the company's processes.

What we require from you:

- BSc or equivalent in relevant technics (electronics/ IT related discipline) or similar by experience
- Experience in similar work with a minimum of 3 years
- Operating, troubleshooting and maintaining survey equipment will be the most important part of the job
- Coordinate between the survey client on board and the office
- A high standard to be kept in your work and administration
- You are an excellent communicator Fluent in English proficiency in Dutch is a plus
-

What we offer:

- No day will feel like the same, neither will the view
- The ability to work with a large variety of survey equipment
- Being part of a growing, inspiring and innovating international oriented and family owned business
- Room for own initiatives and creativity
- A great Salary and pension plan

Ready for a new challenge? And do you recognize yourself in both what we require, and what we offer? Then please contact our HR department via jobs@braveheartmarine.com